Musique : Kronos’ Heritage

09/09/2013 à 10h00

Mise en garde : Les vociférations de ce chanteur de Folk/Melodic Death Metal pourront paraître à la limite du soutenable pour certaines oreilles sensibles.

Parole de la chanson du groupe italien Krampus:
Erasing the future for greed , blinded by Madness like modern Kronos eating your Children. Poisoning the earth where they’ll walk
Burning and felling the trees where they should dream
Toxic the breath of the mother on her goodnight kiss
Your shame wont heal the wounds of your legacy.

Tell me, how would u explain the misery you’ve made to the smile of your son
His hopes and dreams are now your hands
Close your eyes and remember the beauty you had the luck to see (Tell me)
When the world wasn’t gray as it is Don’t forget that you are just a guest in this perfect balance that we call Earth. Every damage she suffers doubles on you
Is it worth to condemn the future for useless desires
You cause this carnage with every junk they told you need
(Refrain)

Deceiving the circle of life hunting the hunters
valuing the nature when killed or enslaved
Breathing the smell of our guilt
Evading to face the scale of our sins
Arid the end of the travel we undertook
Too late we’ll realize that we killed ourselves
(Refrain)