Des scientifiques ont recréé le visage de la reine Néfertiti, les “afrocentristes” en colère crient au complot et estiment que les Égyptiens anciens étaient noirs

07/02/2018 à 22h44

Grâce à la reconstruction faciale et l’ADN, des scientifiques sont parvenus à recréer le visage de la reine Néfertiti, l’épouse du grand pharaon Akhenaton.

> World, meet King Tut’s mother and likely the true face of #Nefertiti! First discovered in 1898, the badly damaged mummy of the so-called “Younger Lady” sits in the Egyptian museum. Through 3D imaging and forensic reconstruction, she lives again. #ExpeditionUnknown @travelchannel pic.twitter.com/gQkGOY4oq2
>
> — Josh Gates (@joshuagates) February 5, 2018

Les réactions

> This women is white . Kemet which was called ancient Egypt means land of the black people . Theirs no way she looked like that .

— Mansa Musa (@IAMKINGRICO) February 5, 2018

But she…uh..white pic.twitter.com/ly8hTMdmOO

— LeVoncé (@__Levonce) February 5, 2018

Nefertiti was not white. She was very dark.

— Marcia R Scott (@grandmascott1) February 5, 2018

https://twitter.com/HellRazor65/status/960653470582870017

Nefertiti was not this ugly white lady. Next.

— Akilah Hughes (@AkilahObviously) February 6, 2018

https://twitter.com/MsKTweetsTruth/status/961287748895281152

I'll never understand why white people feel a need to rewrite history & take what they didn't create. Just tell the Truth…

— BillyABSTRACT (@BillyABSTRACT) February 5, 2018

She doesn't look very Egyptian…

— Allison Britt (@iMakeArtifacts) February 5, 2018

Ancient Egyptians were more closely related to Europeans. Modern day Egyptians look like the Arabs that conquered after the time of the pharaohs, mixed with Sub-Saharan Africans they enslaved in large numbers.

— Harold T. Ogden (@GennethKrant) February 5, 2018

This is inaccurate.

— TheGrandeDame (@Itsonlyreal) February 5, 2018

Outstanding rebuttal! I hope it gets published in Nature, the world's most prestigious science journal! https://t.co/Kcgsl9Trae

— Harold T. Ogden (@GennethKrant) February 5, 2018

They're lying if they're saying these people were anything but black. Look at the REAL sculptures and drawings from the time period and it will easily disprove this nonsense. Egypt is in Africa. ALL of Africa's natural inhabitants were black.

— TheGrandeDame (@Itsonlyreal) February 5, 2018

The servants certainly were. pic.twitter.com/fcxxb0oeb9

— Harold T. Ogden (@GennethKrant) February 5, 2018

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=v9bi4G6YguM