Méditerranée : en 24 heures plus de 1 000 migrants ont quitté la Libye sur des embarcations, 800 d'entre eux ont été interceptés par les garde-côtes libyens

05/02/2021 à 9h26

In 24 hours, more than 1,000 migrants departed from #Libya, fleeing dire humanitarian conditions.

Over 800 of them were intercepted and returned to shore.

While IOM teams continue to provide assistance at disembarkation points, we maintain that #Libya is not a safe port. pic.twitter.com/8rCg13XAdf

— IOM Libya (@IOM_Libya) February 5, 2021

[BREAKING] #SAR Op 04.02.21 – Libyan Coast Security PB P-300 in 2 sep. ops rescued 179 #migrants incl. 14 women and 5 children. All rescued disembarked safely in Tripoli and were provided with medical & humanitarian aid. [UPDATE

FOLLOWS] #migrantcrisis #frontex #seenotrettung pic.twitter.com/ZIjQct7rRt

— Migrant Rescue Watch (@rgowans) February 4, 2021

2/2 [cont] 151 rescued #migrants (all male) transferred to DCIM Collection and Return Center in Tripoli for accommodation. #migrantcrisis #frontex #seenotrettung #COVID19 pic.twitter.com/LROwFsdi2O

— Migrant Rescue Watch (@rgowans) February 4, 2021

#SAR Op 04.02.21 — Libyan Coast Guard ships "Fezzan" & "Ubari" rescued a total of 375 #migrants incl. women and children. All rescued disembarked safely in Tripoli and were provided with medical & humanitarian aid. [UPDATE FOLLOWS] #migrantcrisis #frontex #seenotrettung pic.twitter.com/dK2iubDWWx

— Migrant Rescue Watch (@rgowans) February 5, 2021

En lien :

Méditerranée : déjà 237 migrants à bord de l'Ocean Viking arrivé hier au large de la Libye, plusieurs départs d'embarcations en 24 heures

(Màj)

Italie : les ONG réclament la fin de l’accord sur la gestion des flux migratoires avec les garde-côtes libyens, l’argent dépensé devrait fournir aux migrants des moyens sûrs d’atteindre l’Europe